Section 1 Introduction

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The production of this school district document is the result of extensive work by dedicated staff, including teachers, administrators and support personnel. It is a collaborative effort to identify and prioritize our needs relative to student learning and facility and business operations. Our staff has devoted countless hours scrutinizing their budgets and collecting the data needed to make responsible educational and fiscal decisions.

We wish to thank the teachers, administrators and support staff that assisted us throughout the creation of our budget proposal and related documents. The development of a responsive, databased budget proposal could not have been accomplished without the expertise and skill of a staff that is committed to and passionate about education in Colchester.

Their exemplary work and dedication is recognized, appreciated and valued.

EFFORTS TO REDUCE RACIAL, ETHNIC, AND ECONOMIC ISOLATION

Below is the description submitted by this school of how it provides educational opportunities for its students to interact with students and teachers from diverse racial, ethnic, and economic backgrounds.

Colchester School District offers opportunities for teachers and students to gain awareness of diversity, including providing experiences to connect cultures. In a community that has economic and cultural, but little racial diversity, the schools offer students extra-curricular clubs designed to reduce bias, including a Save Darfur Club and Gay Straight Alliance, Unified Sports and Interact. Bacon Academy students participate in Connecticut Youth Forum, which allows for conversations among diverse high school students at monthly meetings. Approximately 37 students and two teachers spend six days per year working with students from 20 districts around the state. The Community Activism elective at the high school provides students with an opportunity to learn about social justice, human rights, and community building, and involves students in authentic outreach programs in nearby communities. Students had opportunities for service learning through the Afghan Songbook program, and districtwide activities in our model PBS schools help students demonstrate respect for one another's differences. Our professional development offerings include workshops to enhance faculty understanding of addressing diversity and meeting the needs of English Language Learners. Six teachers attended a summer institute run by UCLA, learning about best practices for making content comprehensible for students with diverse backgrounds. Colchester teachers continue to receive recognition for distinguished teaching of topics such as Middle Eastern culture and The Holocaust. Colchester's intergenerational program pairs students with senior citizens to learn about cultural, social, and economic differences. As a HOT school, Jack Jackter Intermediate School students work with resident artists to integrate the arts into a diversity theme and provide opportunities to promote respect for one another through student-run monthly Town Meetings. Although most students attend our local high school, we have seen an increase in magnet school participation over the past four years, from 2 students in 2006, to 20 students in 2009.

EQUITABLE ALLOCATION OF RESOURCES AMONG DISTRICT SCHOOLS

Below is the description submitted by this district of how it allocates resources to insure equity and address needs.

Colchester faces fiscal challenges resulting in an allocation of resources significantly below state and DRG averages; nonetheless, with one school for grades K-2, 3-5, 6-8 and 9-12, every student in a given grade level has comparable resources. The Board of Education strives to maximize its dollars, although Colchester ranks 159 of 167 in the state in per pupil expenditure. Our budget proposal is developed in late fall using a systematic, multilevel process involving teachers, administrators and central office. Enrollment data is closely monitored and a per pupil allocation for supplies and library books is set. The administrative team then determines additional resources needed at each school, such as technology or facilities improvements. Resources needed are based on a seven-year curriculum revision cycle, and funds are allocated for textbooks and materials to implement new programs. Once the budget is developed, appropriate reductions are made "across the board," based on collaborative decision-making among all school administrators. The administrators' proposed budget is presented to the Board of Education in January for review, discussion, revision, and adoption. Town and education budgets are voted on by the community at a May referendum.

Accommodations for a student's disability may be made to allow him or her to participate in testing. Students whose disabilities prevent them from taking the test even with accommodations are assessed by means of a list of skills aligned to the same content and grade level standards as the CMT and CAPT.

Federal law requires that students with disabilities be educated with their non-disabled peers as much as is appropriate. Placement in separate educational facilities tends to reduce the chances of students with disabilities interacting with non-disabled peers, and of receiving the same education.

SCHOOL DISTRICT IMPROVEMENT PLANS AND ACTIVITIES

The following narrative was submitted by this district.

Cohorts of Colchester students have made significant gains in achievement on CMT since 2006, and Colchester growth exceeds the state growth in reading and math. While students start close to the state average in grade 3, students surpass it, making significant gains over time; students in grades 6-8 reached 87-89% at goal in reading and 78-82% at goal in math on the 2010 CMT. High school students took 190 AP tests with 76% scoring 3 and above in English, 53% in math, and 83% in science. On CAPT, nearly 90% proficiency was reached in all 4 subject areas, with 64% at goal in Math, 53% in science, 52% in reading and 65% in writing. The district exceeded the percent at goal as compared to the DRG average in math and science, Colchester has been identified as a model for the state in its Positive Behavior Support initiative, and has seen a decrease in suspensions, expulsions, and behavior referrals as a result of this approach. Our highly successful C3 (Collaborative for Colchester's Children) has been commended nationally for addressing the needs of children in the community, including an innovative approach to working with community services; this year Colchester Elementary School hosts a Head Start Program as part of this partnership. The percent of students attending preschool has risen from 55.6% in 2005 to over 90% in 2009 as a result of C3 initiatives. The district collaborates with UCONN's CBER research in planning instructional improvements. Reading and math leadership teams examine data, diagnose needed interventions and plan strategies to improve the skills of all students. The development and refinement of common assessments to inform and guide instruction is ongoing. A district level Instructional Council meets regularly to examine student learning PK-12and recommends instructional improvements to enhance all subject areas. Both elementary schools use a standardsbased report card which gives parents clear information about their students' achievement levels in all subject areas. Teams of teachers in every school use collaborative time to examine data and student work. They then develop proposals for providing extra time and support to students in need, using the SRBI model and researchbased programs, assessments, and materials. In its fourth year, the Colchester K-8 Summer School provided an opportunity for over 100 regular and special education students to improve math and reading skills and reduce summer learning loss. This integrated setting for summer school also met the needs of our ESY students. Colchester's full inclusion policy effectively integrates a co-teaching model and meets the state target for student time with non-disabled peers. Co-teaching teams collaborate to plan for their students' unique learning needs, and professional development activities include strategies for meeting the needs of all students in the mainstream classroom. Colchester's Parent Collaborative works with administrators to guide the school district and increase parental involvement in a student's academic success. Parents are welcomed in all initiatives, and participate on the district Wellness Committee, principal's councils at each school, hiring committees and in transportation decisions. Parents have input into the school calendar and other topics through surveys, and data is used as a part of the decision-making process. They receive up-to-date information on their child's education through use of the parent portal on Power School.
